Synopsis

Womanizer. Adulterer. Divorced. That is Lord Davis Rathbone's history. His future? He vows to never marry or fall in love again "repeating his past mistakes, not worth the risk. Then he meets Magnolia Blume, and filling his days penning poetry no longer seems an alternative to channel his pent-up feelings. With God's help, surely he can keep this rare treasure and make it work this time? Magnolia Blume's life is perfect, except for one thing "Davis Rathbone is everything she's not looking for in a man. ## Customer Reviews

A Match for Magnolia by Marion Ueckermann Divorced, British lord with a questionable reputation seeks special gift for his mother's birthday. Single, spirited, talented jeweler creates the ring of a lifetime. Can these two strong personalities move beyond past reputations and perceptions of nobility and accept who they are today? And can they trust each other enough to consider building a future together? Told from Magnolia Blume's and Lord Davis Rathbone's point of view the reader has the insider scoop on the attraction and fears both have for each other. Surprises come from outside influences that have the power to make or break Magnolia's and Davis's relationship. A sweet British romance—|not my favorite Marion Ueckermann book, but still a quality, entertaining read. Note: This story is part of the book set, Love Blossoms. I received an Advanced Reader Copy for my honest review.

This was such a powerful story of the redemptive power of Christ all wrapped up in a 100 page novella. The romance was sweet and believable. Having been born and raised in the US, the traditions and culture of the English was just as I imagined. I loved how both Magnolia and Davis put their trust in the Lord and relied on his guidance. We get to meet some of Magnolia's sisters, which sets the series up (I assume) for their romance stories. I look forward to their stories and possibly meeting Davis' prodigal brother. I was gifted an ARC of the Love Blossoms Anthology in exchange for my honest opinion. A Match for Magnolia is one of seven stories that make up this anthology.

A Match For Magnolia, written by Marion Ueckerman, is the first book I've read by this author. I definitely would like to follow this author's progression in her books. Magnolia Blume is from a family of a horticulturist who named each of his daughter flower names...a cute touch for a bunch of Blumes. I believe my favorite character in this book was Lord Davis Rathbone. He was a baron...Magnolia a commoner...he fell for Magnolia, but Davis has a terrible past, less the last 3 yrs... A sweet read of love at first sight...for Davis at least! Would Magnolia be able to find it in herself to actually fall for him? I was gifted this book in exchange for my honest review.

I have read this author's books in other collections and read this one as part of the Love Blossoms collection. I think this has been my favorite. I thought to begin with this was historical, but was pleasantly surprised when it wasn't. A clear picture of how love can triumph through prayer, understanding, and communication. I really hope the other books in this series are about the other sisters and would love to know more about the parents as well. Becoming a big fan of this author.

A Match for Magnolia is a wonderful story! The author has re-told the story of Cinderella giving it a modern twist and combined it with wonderful characters and a story picturing how God's love and forgiveness offers His children a second chance at life and finding love. The result is a delightful and heartwarming story that I thoroughly enjoyed. I was given an e-copy of this book in return for an honest review.
